THE OLD REED MANSION, WALDOBORO, MAINE

GREATEST interest in the present sale will centre around a group of heirlooms which have descended in the family of Maine's prominent citizens during the early years of the nineteenth century, and which by this association recalls to mind the efforts of the Colonies in their struggles for independence.

Isaac Gardner Reed was born in Littleton, Mass., in 1783; his mother Mary Gardner was a daughter of Isaac Gardner who was slain at Lexington. He read law with Hon. John Locke of Bellerica, was admitted to the Bar and settled in Waldoboro, Me. in 1808 where he became the town's leading lawyer and a person of considerable prominence. His father, Isaac Reed, appears to have been a merchant; an existing inventory (reproduced in part as frontispiece) of his estate made at the time of his death at Littleton, Mass., in 1789, appraises the contents of his business premises, some land and bills due at eleven hundred and ninety-nine pounds, eighteen shillings and one pence, a considerable sum for this period. Having gained affluence at his law practice in Waldoboro, the younger Reed established a residence for himself which later became known as the Reed Mansion, and furnished it with furniture partly obtained from his father's estate and partly acquired by purchase.

At the Reed Mansion was entertained among other notable guests a young man named Jefferson Davis, at that time engaged in governmental surveying work, and who in after years was to become President of the Southern Confederacy. William King, first Governor of Maine, was also a personal friend of the lawyer who by his interest in military matters rose to the rank of Colonel of Militia, and was a member of the Convention which framed the Constitution of Maine and designed and prepared the Seal of the State.

Furnishings from the old Reed Mansion of Waldoboro, Me., form the nucleus of this sale, supplemented by some highly interesting and historically rare pieces assembled by Mr. W. W. Creamer, together with a choice group of Waldoboro hooked rugs, early American glass, and various other decorative objects.

CONDITIONS OF SALE

1. All bids to be PER PIECE as numbered in the catalogue, unless otherwise mentioned.
2. The highest bidder to be the buyer. In all cases of disputed bids the lot shall be resold, but the auctioneer will use his judgment as to the good faith of all claims, and his decision shall be final.
3. Any bid which is not commensurate with the value of the article offered, or which is merely a nominal or fractional advance, may be rejected by the auctioneer if in his judgment such bid would be likely to affect the sale injuriously.
4. The name of the buyer of each lot shall be given immediately after the sale thereof, and when so required, each buyer shall sign a card giving the lot number, amount for which sold, and his or her name and address. ¶ A deposit at the actual time of the sale shall be made of all or such part of the purchase prices as may be required. ¶ If the two foregoing conditions are not complied with, the lot or lots so purchased may at the option of the auctioneer be put up again and resold.
5. Title passes upon the fall of the auctioneer's hammer, and thereafter the property is at the purchaser's risk, and neither the owner nor the Company is responsible for the loss of, or any damage to any article by theft, fire, breakage, however occasioned, or any other cause whatsoever.
6. Articles not paid for in full and not called for by the purchaser by noon of the day following that of the sale may be turned over by the Company to some carter to be carried to and stored in some warehouse until the time of the delivery therefrom to the purchaser, and the cost of such cartage and storage and any other charges will be charged against the purchaser, and the risk of loss or damage occasioned by such removal or storage will be upon the purchaser. ¶ In any instance where the bill has not been paid in full by noon of the day following that of the sale, the Company reserves the right, any other stipulation in these conditions of sale to the contrary notwithstanding, in respect to any or all lots included in the bill, at its option, either to cancel the sale thereof or to resell the same at public or private sale without further notice for the account of the buyer and to hold the buyer responsible for any deficiency sustained in so doing.
7. The Company exercises great care to catalogue every lot correctly and endeavors therein and also at the actual time of the sale to point out any error, defect, or imperfection, but guaranty is not made either by the owner or the Company of the correctness of the description, genuineness, authenticity or condition of any lot, and no sale will be set aside on account of any incorrectness, error of cataloguing or imperfection not noted or pointed out. Every lot is sold "as is" and without recourse.
8. Buying or bidding by the Company for responsible parties on orders transmitted to it by mail, telegraph, or telephone, if conditions permit, will be faithfully attended to without charge. Any purchases so made will be subject to the foregoing conditions of sale. Orders for execution by the Company should be given with such clearness as to leave no room for misunderstanding. Not only should the lot number be given, but also the name of the object, and a bid on several objects catalogued under a single number should be stated to be so much per piece unless the description contains the notation "[Lot.]", in which case the bid should be stated to be so much FOR THE LOT. If the one transmitting the order is unknown to the Company, a deposit must be sent or reference submitted. Shipping directions should also be given.

9. The Company will afford every facility for the employment of carriers and packers by the purchasers, but will not be responsible for any damage arising from the acts of such carriers and packers.

These Conditions of Sale cannot be altered except by an Officer of the Company

357. IMPORTANT DUNCAN PHYFE INLAID AND CARVED
 MAHOGANY DROP-LEAF PEDESTAL TABLE New York, 1800-10
 Rectangular top of handsomely figured brown mahogany has two hinged leaves supported by pivoted brackets; the frame at each end, of concave design, is of light brown mahogany with inlaid dies of faintly figured fiddle-back satinwood, and is bordered with characteristic narrow piping of light and dark rosewood. Supported by vase-turned pedestal on four outcurved and tapered legs finely carved for the half of their length in feather or leaf design, the lower sections reeded, and terminating in chased brass shoes and casters.
 An age crack on the top has been strengthened by small bracing irons applied to the under-surface. Very rare.

Height, 29 inches; width of top extended, 48 inches

Note: This very fine table bears all the earmarks of Phyfe's work and exhibits the high quality of design and cabinet work which characterizes the products of this noted New York craftsman. The table was obtained from a descendant of Colonel I. G. Reed of Waldoboro, Me., and formed part of the furnishings of the Old Reed Mansion.

For similarity of design compare with examples illustrated in Charles Over Cornelius, Furniture Masterpieces of Duncan Phyfe, 1922, plates XL and XLII

376. RARE MAPLE AND ASH TRANSITIONAL BREWSTER ARMCHAIR

New England, circa 1660-1700

Back occupied by two rows of four upright spindles in two tiers between horizontal rails. The spool-turned posts are capped with pineapple finials, slightly sloped arms, ring-scratched front posts and spindle underbracing. Rush or splint seat replaced with rope matting, otherwise in original state with old coating of red paint.

Height of back, 45 inches; width of seat, 23 inches

Note: The chair was originally owned by the Winslows, who were among the first settlers in New England, and has remained in the Winslow family until quite recently. It bears unquestionable earmarks of Colonial manufacture and is much more likely a product of New England than an importation brought over in the Mayflower, as stated in the accompanying affidavit.

382A. RARE CURLY MAPLE FOLDING TRESTLE GATE-LEG TABLE

900- CALLED A 'TUCK-AWAY' TABLE New England, circa 1680-1700

Two-board circular top on understructure composed of two turned baluster upright posts and two horizontal rails similarly turned, standing on chamfered trestle feet. Top when raised is supported by an unturned pivoted gate. In entirely original condition with old coating of dark paint. The two small brackets were added at some later period to give greater stability to the top and should be removed.

Height, 26½ inches; diameter, 30 inches

Note: Tables of this type are greatly prized by collectors as being among the rarest examples of so-called Pilgrim furniture. The fact that the table can be folded up to occupy a small space explains the reason for the name given to it.

Compare examples illustrated in Wallace Nutting Furniture of the Pilgrim Century (revised edition), figs. 745 and 746

382. RARE MAPLE TURNED TRESTLE BUTTERFLY TABLE

New England, 1680-1700

1500- Circular top with hinged leaves with tongued and grooved joints and original iron hinges, on trestle-shaped understructure composed of two turned baluster upright members braced at the base with a similarly turned horizontal rail, and standing on chamfered square base rails. Supporting the leaves are solid butterfly brackets dowed into the underframing of the top and the centre of the stretcher. Base strengthened with bracing irons and feet reinforced with wood rails which are additional to the piece and can be removed. In original condition, with old coating of bluish gray paint. Very rare.

Height, 26 inches; diameter of top, 23½ inches

Note: Wallace Nutting, in Furniture of the Pilgrim Century, makes the following remarks concerning this unique type: "A combined butterfly and trestle table . . . these are among the rarest of all American furniture specimens . . . we do not know at this date (1924) of any other examples than these two (owned by Mr. Dwight Blaney)." The table was recently discovered in a house in Pemaquid, Me., where it had remained unnoticed for a long period of years;—this house at one time was the residence of John and Snow Paine, traders and ship builders. Vide Johnson's History of Bristol, Bremen and Pemaquid, 1873.

Compare with Wallace Nutting's Furniture of the Pilgrim Century, 1924, figs. 872 and 874

383. JACOBEOAN CARVED WALNUT DAYBED FORMERLY OWNED BY GENERAL JOHN SULLIVAN OF REVOLUTIONARY WAR FAME

Circa 1660-80

Hinged adjustable head-panel attractively carved in shell and leaf-scroll design, the posts and stretchers all handsomely turned in spiral pattern, the frame embellished with diaper scratch-carving. Back and seat retains old caning. Length, 6 feet 2 inches; width, 22 inches

Note: The daybed was once the property of the above named noted commander of New England forces under Washington. Ancestors of General Sullivan, who were people of considerable standing in Ireland came to this country in 1723, and that they brought the daybed with them as part of their effects is very probable.
